

American Association of Physicists in Medicine

Physics Teachers – What is Medical Physics?
Join us at Educators' Day
Tuesday, July 24, 2007
Minneapolis Convention Center

You and your colleagues are invited to participate in a program being offered for physics faculty. This program coincides with the 2007 Annual Meeting of the American Association of Medical Physicists, July 22-26 in Minneapolis.

Medical physics is a challenging and rewarding profession, but is currently experiencing shortages of physicists. Major technological advances will cause this shortage to increase significantly in the coming years, so it is imperative that new talent be attracted to this area of science. As a physics teacher, you have tremendous influence on bright and inquiring minds, and may be able to encourage your students to consider this field. Please join us on the morning of Tuesday, July 24, to learn more about medical physics career options for your students.

Please complete the attached form, and plan to attend. More information about the AAPM and medical physics can be found at the website, www.aapm.org.

We would like to reach as many educators as possible. Feel free to pass this invitation along to a colleague.
